

Beukhen's Commercial Debt Recovery Services have been designed to assist businesses of all sizes and are available as tailor-made total solutions, or individually as stand-alone services. Either way, they are all part of the popular set of Flo2Cash™ outsourcing services.

In this world of global commerce, many business-to-business (B2B) transactions take place across time zones, diverse cultures and languages. However, it is not unusual for misunderstandings to take place over terms and conditions, leading to delinquent debts. Whether the delinquency is for valid or fraudulent reasons, many companies expend precious internal resources to track down no-payers or slow-payers across the globe. By outsourcing this receivables management recovery process to Beukhen International, companies can focus their efforts on other revenue generating activities.
